CDSL	1,145	455	24.5%	1.07x	Near zero

Key Observations

- BSE: Derivatives-driven revenue surge; ROCE 60%; near-zero debt; best earnings quality among peers.
- Groww: #1 NSE active clients; Q1 FY27 PAT +94% YoY; EBITDA margin ~68%; premium valuation.
- Angel One: Cheapest P/E (26x) but PAT down 22% YoY; CFO/NI -2.1x red flag from MTF expansion.
- CDSL: Defensive MII; FY26 growth slowed to 6%; recovery thesis on demat adds + IPO pipeline.

7. Retail Sentiment & Risk Factors

ValuePickr / Retail Forum Sweep

- Groww thread: <https://forum.valuepickr.com/t/groww-billionbrains-garage-ventures/223611>
- Consensus: Largest active-client base + adjacency optionality (AMC, credit, wealth); premium to Angel One justified if share gains persist.
- Counter: Valuation embeds perfection; Zerodha/Angel can replicate adjacencies; F&O regulatory risk.
- BSE coverage: Partial — discussed in exchange/MII threads on ValuePickr and Capitalmind
- CDSL coverage: Moderate — MII recovery thesis on Trendlyne/MoneyControl

Sector Risk Factors

- SEBI regulatory changes on F&O (lot sizes, intraday margins, risk monitoring) -- hits BSE + brokers.
- Market volume cyclicalities -- Angel One most exposed near-term; BSE derivatives mix amplifies.
- Competitive intensity -- Groww gaining share; Zerodha (unlisted) remains key rival.
- Valuation compression risk -- CDSL at 60x TTM; Groww at 49x needs sustained 25%+ PAT growth.

Catalysts (Next 4 Quarters)

- Oct 2026: NSE monthly client statistics (Groww vs Angel One share trends)
- Nov 2026: Q2 FY27 results season for all four names
- Ongoing: SEBI F&O framework decisions (high beta for BSE, Groww, Angel One)
- Q2-Q3 FY27: IPO pipeline execution (CDSL transaction + issuer fee recovery)

Portfolio Construction

Avoid overweighting both Groww and Angel One (high correlation). Balanced sleeve: Groww (growth) + CDSL (defensive MII) OR BSE alone for concentrated exchange exposure. Angel One suits value investors willing to wait for volume recovery.
